HONGKONG, SATURDAY, MARCH 24, 1894.

OUR morning contemporary, the Daily Press expresses regret on account of the fact that no early opportunity will be afforded for the discussion of the resolution of which the Hon. T. H. Whiteheld have notice at the last helpte ing of the Legislative Council; but as Mr. Whitehead had previously with drawn his resolution it is difficult to understand how there could possibly be an 'early opportunity' for discussing it. The resolution of which the representative of the Chamber Commerce gave notice was very comprehensive one. It included the appointment of a commission, invested with the amplest powers, to investigate and report on the working of the Opium Farm in the past; the terms and conditions upon which the new farm is to be let, -if there is to be an Opium Farm after the present lease has expired—the defects, if any, in the present Opium Ordinances, and the Noon - Meeting of Shareholders of The smendments to be made with a view to China Sugar Refining Co., Ltd., at the prevention of the smuggling of Opium from the colony in breach of our treaties and engagements with the Government of China and to the protection from risk of forfaiture or fine. through the operations of smugglers, of 9 p.m .- Meeting of Eothen Mark Lodge, ships and steamers trading from this . port to China and Cochin-China; and with a view to the prevention of the Insurance Office, Ltd., to be sent in annovances and indignities inflicted upon Chinese residents and Living Chess Tournament on the Tennis travellers by the perquisitions of the officers of excise appointed by the Farmer under the Ordinance. The hon, member's resolutions and questions in Council are as a rule somewhat formidable, and the above a commission were appointed to go into all the matters mentioned in the notice of motion, it would hardly be possible for them to give their report in time to render any service with respect to the terms and conditions upon which the new Farm, if any, is to be granted. The resolution, however, so far as we can gather from present indications will not come up for discussion either on an early or a late opportunity. Why Mr Whitehead changed his mind can only be a matter of guesswork, but we may assume that he was influenced purely by considerations of expediency. It is quite true that the working of the deal of trouble to the Government, and considering the nature and objects of the institution it is highly probable that under no terms and conditions would it ever be anything but a source of trouble. If we mistake not, Mr Whitehead expressed a strong opinion not very long ago to the effect that, as the system under which the Opium Ferm is worked could not be mended, the Farm itself ought to be ended. It may be taken as an indication of his holding to this opinion that in his notice of motion he implies that there may be no new Farm efter the expiration of the current lease. As to what view the powers that be take of this matter, we have no certain knowledge, but we may venture to predict that, in spite of all the objections which may be raised against its modus operands, the Opinin Farm is not yet doomed. As regards the prevention of smuggling opium from the colony, that is a matter in which the colony can do but little. The Chinese authorities, and particularly the officials of the Chinese Maritime Customs, have to see that the drug is not smuggled into Ohina. It is wellknown that opium may be smuggled out of Hongkong with comparatively little risk of detection, the circumstances being peculiarly favourable; and we doubt whether any alterations could judiciously be made in the existing ordinances which would diminish the opportunities for smuggling. We do not accuse Mr Whitehead of desiring to infuse any sardonic humour into his resolution, when in referring to the defects of the ordinances he inserts the phrase 'if any.' There are undoubtedly defects in them as there are in most, if not all, of our local ordinances but in many cases, in so far as the Opium Ordinances are concerned, it would not be at all an easy matter to find remedies for these defects. There must pecessarily be always something obectionable in the Farming system. It is simply impossible that it can be worked in an open and straightforward manner: It affords too many opportunities for corrupt and illegal practices, and human nature—especially Asiatic human nature—is frail in the face of temptations which point to dollars. Apart from the question as to whether the Opinm Farm can be expediently ended, there are surely some things in respect of which it can be mended. These are indicated in Mr Whitehead's notice of motion - the risk of forfelture and fine, through the operations of smugglers, of ships and steamers trading The Hongkong Dispensary, from this port to China and Cochin-China, and .... the prevention of the annoyances and indignities inflicted upon Chinese residents and travellers by the perquisitions of the officers of excise appointed by the Farmer under the Ordinance. These things are a disgrace to a British Colony and a free port and call loudly for investigation, and in respect of them, apart from anything else, the withdrawal of Mr Whitehead's motion is regrettable.

THE troopship Tamar left Portsmouth on the 15th Rebruary for Hongkong with a fow military drafts and new crews and appernumeraries for the Scoul, Swift, Porposte, Birebrand, and Ratter, on the China Station. A PARLIAMENTARY paper has been issued giving the numbers of fatal accidents and of deaths occurring last year in mines in the United Kingdom. These are divided into two sections—namely, those classed under the Coal Mines Regulation Act of 1887, and those under the Metalliferous Mines Regulation Acts of 1872 and 1875. In the coal mines the deaths numbered 1,056 to 1,016 in the preceding year, and the accidents 847 against 808. Of the 1,056 deaths, 158 were from fire-damp explosions, 411 from falls in mines, 103 occurred in shafts, 265 from miscallaneous underground accidents, and 119 were occasioned by machinery accidents on the surface. In the metalliferous mines the accidents numbered 39 against 8 in 1892, and the desthates spainer 52.

The Indian Daily News writes :- It will be very generally regretted that the engagement of the On Paris-Potter-Bellow Company at the Corinthian is drawing be a close. Never before in the experience of a theatre-going community in India has it been known for any company to hold the boards for so protracted a season as five months, and the Potter-Bellew Comnany under the management of Mr T. Y Twinning has schred a distinct success in this respect. But there is nothing surprising in this, for with so high-class and select a company, and with such a variety of new agenery, exquisite dresses, and a good fohestra, success was practically ensured from the beginning. description of the Houris. -- Professor Max Müller, in the Nineteenth Century. "GOOD ADVICE AND A WOODEN LEG." If I hadn't given my friend Jim Smalley the best piece of advice one young fellow could give another we should be friends still—that is, if Jim could have lived without the advice. This may sound rather strange and mixed to you, but it's all right when you take it by the handle. You see it was this way. Jim was a handsome chap, 25 years old, toppish and dressy, fond of society, had plenty of money, but with the seeds of consumption in him. Got 'our from his mo-unseen; verily, this promise ever comes to pass. Is it so very wrong, then, that saints are believed to enter Paradise with their wives, as when we read, 'O my servants, enter ye into Paradise, ye and your wives, happy. In this and similar ways the pure happiness of the next life is described in the Korka, and if, in a few passages; not only wives but besutiful maidens also are mentioned among the joys of heaven, why should this rouse indignation ? True, it shows a less spiritual conception of the life to come than a philosopher would sanction, but, however childish, there is nothing indelicate or impure in the ther, who died of it. Well, Jim began to cough, and run down bill fast. The doctors couldn't help him, and told One day he was talking to me about it. and actually broke down and cried, "Jim," says I, "there's just one chance for you, and I want you to jump for it right away. That's to to cut West in America and live on the slopes of the Rocky Mountains, in the pine woods, in a hut or a tent, and stay there till you are dead or well. Don't write to me tor a year, then come back or let me hear from you. Bidding a sad farewell to the young girl he was engaged to be married to, Jim went. Two years afterwards I met him in town; he was as hearty as a back, but walked with a limp. | 1894, at 3 p.m., the Company's He had lost his right leg, below the knee, in a Steamship KARLSRUHE, Capt. KESSLER, fight with a grizzly bear, and now hobbled with MAILS, PASSENGERS, SPECIE, around on a wooden one. "And its all your fault," he said, "If it hadn't been for your advice I'd haver gone there. Now Edith won't marry me. Says she don't want a husband with a wooden leg, and I don't want a friend who gave me the wooden leg." Well, there! I was never so taken aback. My health, yet because he couldn't have two sound legs and a wife besides, he threw me overboard. I vowed I'd never give anybody a bit of good advice spain. I'd let 'em die first. But that's daty to keep on doing good, whether people are grateful or not. Here is Mr. Frank Stanley Languan. His wife gave him a piece of good advice, and he was sensible enough to act on it. In June, 1882, it was that he fell ill. He felt weak, tired, and weary without any outside reason for it. His appetite was poor, there was a hitter taste in his mouth, and a bad pain in the chest and stomach after sating. Sometimes he would break out into a sweat and feel so prostrated he'd have to he down. It was feared he had some kind of internal tumour. Once he had an attack at the railway station, and people crowded round him, thinking he was dying. During another attack he kissed his child, believing his time had come. A doctor examined him for heart disease, but couldn't find any. He advised Langman to take only milk and brandy, milk and water, and such slops. Still he had those frightful periodic attacks. After attending him some time, the doctor said, "I can't find out what is the matter with you; you had better see a West End physician." Mr. Langman did liver made too much bile, and ordered medicine and a milk diet. Two more doctors were consulted with no better result, and the unhappy man remained in that same miserable form for seven years. In February, 1889, he read in a newspaper of a case like his own having been cared by Mother Seign's Curative Syrup, but inasmuch as the best medical advice in Landon was of no use, what could be expected from an advertised medicine? "Nothing, of course," said Mr. Lang-
